RLPSA Postpones its Annual Conference to March 2021

NASHVILLE, March 30, 2020 – The Restaurant Loss Prevention & Security Association (RLPSA) announces the postponement of its Annual Conference to March 15 – 18, 2021. The Renaissance SeaWorld Orlando remains the venue of the 41st Annual Conference hosting restaurant, grocers, and c-store loss prevention, safety, and risk professionals.

“The restaurant industry is going through an unprecedented time of change during this COVID-19 crisis,” said RLPSA Executive Director Amber Bradley. “We postponed the conference so both our restaurant members and our solution provider partners can focus on their operation and employees. RLPSA stands ready as a resource to help our industry recover by providing relevant, practical assistance.”

Since January, the RLPSA has continued to distribute resources and hold membership discussions tackling the COVID-19 crisis. Resources for restaurants can be found at RLPSA.com, including:

- A free downloadable video for our members to educate employees on CDC guidelines for hand-washing and how to prevent illness
- A real-time dashboard of coronavirus cases by EarlyAlert
- Suggested talking points for restaurants from the National Restaurant Association
