Philip John DeJulio Appointed to Metro LPSG Advisory Board

Staten Island, NY— Mr. Philip John DeJulio has joined the Metro One LPSG Advisory Board. Mr. DeJulio has more than 35 years of experience in the Loss Prevention / Life Safety industry, and for 20 of those years was the President and COO at Metro One. Phil was a key architect in building the Metro One LPSG brand and national footprint as the retail loss prevention leader, with a reputation for employee appearance, image and reliability. Under DeJulio's leadership, Metro One increased client retention and its reputation for "getting the job done," no matter how demanding the situation or circumstances. Today, Metro One Loss Prevention Services Group is considered a Top-20 provider in the private security industry.

Metro One Chairman and Owner Vince Carrabba welcomed Philip to the Advisory Board, saying "Phil has been with us from the early years of Metro One. His many contributions make him a perfect addition to our Advisory Board, where he can continue to assist the organization both directly and indirectly in any number of key loss prevention and client-centric endeavors. We are very pleased to have Phil as a board member, and as an active part of the Metro One team."

Prior to his position at Metro One Loss Prevention Services Group, Mr. De Julio served as Director of Loss Prevention for Barnes & Noble from 1990 until 2000. During his time with Barnes & Noble, Philip assisted in the national expansion efforts of the superstore platform, B&N logistics and B&N.com. Additional responsibilities included leading the cultural development and purposeful approach to shrink reduction, life safety, special events and business continuity initiatives. Additionally, Phil served as Assistant Vice President of Operations Control for Barney's New York, Barney's America, from 1987 until 1990. Mr. DeJulio holds a Bachelor Degree in Criminal Justice from Long Island University.
